

ROCKFORD'S LAWLER HEADS THE G. A. R.

VETERANS DECIDED TO GO SOUTH AGAIN.

The Selection Unanimous—Election of Commander-in-Chief Takes Place Today—Membership Shows a Falling Off Caused by Death—Historic Gavel Presented.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 14.—Colonel Thomas G. Lawler, of Rockford, Ill., was today elected commander in chief of the Grand Army by a majority of eleven. Major A. P. Burchfield of Pittsburg, is senior vice commander and Charles A. Shape of New Orleans, junior vice commander. Louisville Ky., was unanimously chosen yesterday as the place of holding the G. A. R. encampment next year. This was the most important business transacted by the convention. Col. Thomas Lawler of Rockford and Col. I. N. Walker were nominated for commander-in-chief. It is impossible at this time to say who will be elected, but Lawler's friends are still hopeful. Walker's stock has taken a decided upward course, as a result of several caucuses. Pennsylvania decided to cast its forty-four votes for the soldier from Indiana.

The delegates to the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic got down yesterday to a solid business basis. While 200,000 persons have left the city since the last old soldier passed the review Tuesday, there are still 200,000 strangers in the town, the majority of whom will stay until Saturday and Sunday, while some remain even longer. The national encampment opened in the morning in the new Grand Opera house. The commander-in-chief and the delegates were welcomed on behalf of the citizens' executive board by Chairman Daniel C. Ripley, and also by W. C. Quincy, chairman of the committee on invitations and reception. Gov. Pattison welcomed them on behalf of the state of Pennsylvania, while Mayor McKenna of Pittsburg and Mayor Kennedy of Allegheny performed the same pleasant duty on behalf of their respective cities.

Major A. P. Burchfield then advanced to the front of the stage and presented the Commander-in-chief with a gavel that was emblematic and of great historic interest. It is made of wood from Fort Sumter, Appomattox, Gettysburg and Libby Prison, and is bound with the metal from the historic cannon. It is thus symbolic of the opening and closing of the war. The wood from Gettysburg was taken from near the spot where the commander-in-chief was wounded, and, as he was a prisoner in Libby, has also reminiscent associations. The gavel is inscribed as follows: "Presented by the Citizens of Pittsburg and Allegheny to Capt. J. G. B. Adams, Commander-in-Chief of the G. A. R., at the Encampment Held in Pittsburg, 1894."

Commander Adams opened his address by congratulating Pittsburg on its loyalty now as well as during the days of the war, citing its liberality in caring for the soldiers from the west on their way to the front, as Philadelphia had done for those from the eastern states. He then referred to the fact that four months confinement in a hospital had prevented him from fully attending to his duty but having received the order in such excellent condition from his predecessor, and being so ably assisted by his comrades, the order had not suffered by reason of his disability.

The membership of the order he said is as follows: "One year ago there were in good standing 397,224. There have been gained during the year, by muster in, 16,752; by transfer, 6,354; by reinstatement, 14,036; by reinstatement from delinquent reports, 2,519. Total gain, 39,661; aggregate, 436,884."

"There have been lost: By death, 7,283; by honorable discharge, 1,756; by transfer, 7,132; by suspension, 34,805; by dishonorable discharge, 154; by delinquent reports, 16,671. Total loss, 67,808."

"Number remaining in good standing June 30, 1894, 369,083." To which he added:

"These figures show that the Grand Army of the Republic has reached the beginning of the end, and each succeeding year will show a gradual decrease in our membership. The long-continued depression in business has caused many suspensions, and these we hope to regain when prosperity returns, but it will be impossible for us to recruit our ranks as fast as our members are mustered out by death."

Among the resolutions prepared for the general action of the encampment is one demanding an investigation of the system of reporting upon applications of pensions as pursued in the record and pension bureau under the management of Col. Ainsworth, its official head. Another paragraph in the resolution demands that Col. Ainsworth be himself investigated on allegations that he caused the dismissal of ex-Union soldier workers for cause other than provided for in the statutes defining the right of veterans to employment under the government.

The Woman's Relief corps met in the Fourth Avenue Baptist church. The report of the national secretary, Mrs. Sarah E. Phillips, shows the total membership to be 139,081, a gain of 4,731 over last year's report; number of corps, 2,686; amount expended for relief during the year, $94,151; amount turned over to posts, $30,181; amount expended for Memorial Day, $13,827; amount expended for the Woman's Relief Corps home, $5,534; amount contributed to army nurses not in home, $450; expended in pension work, $253; amount expended in relief, from national relief fund, $150; total cash expended, $114,815; amount of relief other than money, $55,739; total amount of expenditure during the year, $170,554; total amount of relief since organization, $1,413,560.

BANK ROBBED AT NOON.

Ten Thousand Dollars Secured at Rossville, Ill.

DANVILLE, Ill., Sept. 13.—The Citizens' bank at the town of Rossville, twenty miles north of here, on the Chicago & Eastern Illinois was robbed of between $9,000 and $10,000. The officials locked the bank and went to dinner at noon, leaving the key to the back door sticking in the lock on the inside. The robbers succeeded in gaining entrance by using nippers on the key and the robbery was not discovered until the officials returned. T. J. Campbell, president of the bank, offers a reward of $1,000 for the capture of the robbers. It is believed the loss of the money will not embarrass the bank, as the officers and stockholders are well-to-do men.

BOYS TELL STORIES OF DEBS' MOVES

MESSENGERS TELL ABOUT THE TELEGRAMS.

The President Signed For But Few Messages—His Agents Received Most of Them—Hogan Refuses to Testify For Fear of Self Criminalization—Progress of the Trial.

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Among the witnesses summoned by the government and present in the room yesterday were several messenger boys who filled a row of chairs in the middle of the room and appeared among the most interested listeners present. One of these, James Conniff, a diminutive but bright looking boy, was the first witness called. He testified that one signature on a Western Union sheet signed for the receipt of a telegram delivered by him on June 30, 1894, was the signature of Eugene V. Debs. He had given the telegram into the hands of Mr. Debs.

The second witness called was Gus Wohlers, a 15-year-old Western Union messenger, who knew the officers of the American Railway Union, and pointed out Messrs. Howard, Kelher, Hogan and Burns in the courtroom. On July 2 he had delivered about ten telegrams to the American Railway Union headquarters in Uhlrich's hall, which were received for by a man who sat at the door of the room occupied by Mr. Debs. This man had given the boy two or three telegrams each time to be sent out. These were not in envelopes. All were signed "E. V. Debs." For several days thereafter he had carried telegrams back and forth between the American Railway Union headquarters and the Revere house. He had delivered some telegrams to Mr. Hogan personally, but none to Mr. Debs. Once he had seen Mr. Debs coming up the steps when he delivered a telegram to "the man at the door." At another time he had seen Mr. Debs reading a "great stack of about twenty-five telegrams," which had been handed him by Mr. Hogan.

James Clark was then sworn. He told the court, in answer to Mr. Uhlrich's questions, that he was at Uhlrich's hall most of the time during the days from July 1 to the middle of the month. A part of the time he had tended the door of the American railway Union headquarters and as door-keeper he had received for telegrams addressed to E. V. Debs. He knew the officers of the American railway Union. He had attended a meeting of the American Railway Union board of directors about June 24. Previous to that time he had been a director, but at the June convention some one else was elected to his place.

Arthur Conniff and Lucian Harding, other messenger boys, told of delivering telegrams to the American Railway Union headquarters, and the receipt slips of each boy were produced in court.

L. P. Benedict, who was Debs' secretary during the strike was then called to the stand. Every question put him by Mr. Uhlrich was objected to. He refused to answer except by advice of counsel for fear of self-incrimination. Judge Woods said that was right, so nothing at all was elicited from Mr. Benedict.

The prosecution next called James Hogan. He admitted that he was one of the parties defendant to the case and also refused to answer any questions except upon advice of his counsel. Mr. Walker wanted him to testify as to his answer to the information of the government. He refused to do so. Mr. Walker asked him who authorized him to send out telegrams issued by him. That he also refused to answer.

"Are you afraid that it might incriminate you?" asked Judge Woods. "Yes, I fear it might. I don't like to answer that question," said Hogan. "All right," said the judge. The government practically closed its evidence yesterday, and the attorneys of the Santa Fe will probably close to-day.

HONOR THE BANNER.

Thousands of Americans Celebrate the Fort McHenry Centennial.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 13.—Over 100,000 people crowded about old Fort McHenry yesterday afternoon at the centennial celebration. The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. John Lanahan; a choir of 500 voices sang "America;" Dr. Albert Kimberly Hadel delivered the historical address, and State Senator Thomas G. Hayes, and Gov. Brown also made addresses. Little Camella Shannon, great-granddaughter of a revolutionary soldier, then sang the first stanza of "The Star Spangled Banner." The song was taken up by the great choir and the chorus spread until it reached 10,000 voices. The little singer on the platform waved a tiny flag. Her voice could not be heard, but she bravely led the mighty chorus. The celebration ended with a grand salute by the old guns of the fort.

Alex Ties Nancy Hanks' Record.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 13.—But for the blunder of a track man, who left a pile of dirt from a scraper on the first bend, Alex would have beaten Nancy Hanks' 2:04 yesterday afternoon. The mare was barely beginning her trip against the mark when she shied at the dirt pile and losing balance and ground it took her thirty-three seconds to go to the quarter, a 2:12 clip. After that the mile was finished up in 1:30, a 2:00 clip. The last half was in 56 1/2 seconds, a 1:19 clip. The mile was a marvel and compares with Nancy Hanks' made on the same course two years ago. The mile was just in 2:04, but her performance cast aside all doubt as to her ability to beat this record at an early date, and so confident is McDowell that he will start her again to-morrow.

He Is Blamed For the Defeats That Japan Has Inflicted on the Celestial Forces and His Friends Must Work Hard if They Save His Position.

LONDON, Sept. 13.—A dispatch from Shanghai states that the power of Viceroy Li Hung Chang has steadily decreased. His few influential friends are doing their utmost for him at Pekin, but it is not likely that they will be able to avert his downfall. Every day of delay in providing the promised victory over the Japanese now adds to Li Hung Chang's danger. The dispatch adds that the blockade in moving the Chinese troops into Corea continues. Everything has been thrown into confusion. The reinforcements from the more remote provinces en route to Tien Tsin are at a standstill and are terrorizing the cities in which they are halted. The reinforcements are mostly undisciplined hordes, who are not under the control of their nominal leaders.

MEN NEVER NEED DIE OF TROLLEYCUTION

JANESVILLE ELECTRICAL CURRENT COULDN'T KILL.

Superintendent Proudfoot Says So, Declaring That People Who Are Electrocuted Might Be Brought to Life Very Easily—The Course to Pursue.

No man need be killed by the Janesville street railway current.

There you have Article I of Superintendent W. R. Proudfoot's creed.

The energetic street railway manager admits that it may be possible to kill a horse by long exposure to the current.

But a man? Never!

A voltage that would kill a horse, he declares, will merely stun a man, and will not kill if attempts at resuscitation are not neglected. Very much the same ideas that Superintendent Proudfoot has are entertained by Dr. H. A. Goelst, who says that an electric shock may produce death in one of two ways, viz: (1) by producing destructive tissue changes when death is absolute; or (2) by producing sudden arrest of the respiratory and heart muscles through excitement of the nerve centers, when death is only apparent; in other words, animation is merely suspended. The subject may be aroused from this syncope if efforts at resuscitation are not too long delayed.

The alternating current, which is usually regarded as the most deadly, strange to say, nearly always produces death in this second manner.

May Not Get The Whole Load.

To say that a person has received a shock from a wire conveying a current of 4000 or 5000 volts does not necessarily signify that the body has been subjected to the full force of the current, even if the meter does register one ampere during the time of the accident. In view of the fact that the human body offers a resistance of several thousand ohms, which resistance is greatly increased by imperfect contact and by charring and burning the tissues at the points of application. It is not often that the internal structures and vital organs are submitted to a very considerable volume of current, though it apparently passes through the body. It must be borne in mind that when the clothing is moist with perspiration or wet with rain, it offers a circuit of less resistance than the human body, and in this event the body receives only a shunt current, very much less in quantity than the main current. The bulk of current, in this instance, passes over the surface and does not enter the body. This may explain the survival of some who have apparently withstood very powerful currents.

Seldom Kills Outright.

With currents as tight as those used in Janesville, therefore, it may be presumed that electricity seldom kills outright, though the condition of suspended animation which it produces would result in death if not counteracted.

All things considered, it is rational to attempt the resuscitation of those apparently killed by electricity, and if not too long delayed the effort promises fair chances of success, provided proper measures are instituted.

If the body has actually been submitted to a current of sufficient volume to produce destructive tissue changes, all efforts of resuscitation will, of course, be futile.

If, on the other hand, only respiration and the heart's action have been temporarily arrested, there is a condition of syncope simulating apparent death by drowning, or from anaesthetics, and the physician knows that patients in this condition are frequently revived. This condition is one of exaggerated faint.

Strong Stimulation Needed.

In an ordinary fainting spell the necessity to stimulate is universally appreciated. In syncope resulting from an electric shock, stimulation is likewise indicated, but more vigorous measures are required. This is the only difference.

As said above, the direction to treat one shocked by electricity as one drowned may be misleading, as the conception of the layman of the necessities in this case would be to roll the body on a barrel. Let him understand that the condition is one of exaggerated faint; that the necessity is for prompt stimulation, and that the quickest and most powerful stimulant which can be employed is artificial respiration. The man must be made to breathe, if this is possible, and efforts to induce respiration must not be suspended until breathing is fully and normally restored or until it is absolutely certain that life is extinct. This can not be assured in less than an hour's persistent, energetic, tireless effort.

To Induce Respiration.

The body must be placed upon the back. A roll made of a coat or anything else convenient (rolled, not folded) is placed under the shoulders, and must be sufficiently large to so prop the spine up as to drop the head backward. The operator should kneel behind the subject's head, facing him, grasp the elbows and draw them well over the head, so as to bring them almost together above it, and hold them there for two or three seconds. Then he carries them down to the sides and front of the chest, firmly compressing it by throwing his weight upon them. After two or three seconds the arms are again carried above the head and the same maneuver is repeated, at the rate of fifteen or sixteen times per minute. At the same time the tongue must be drawn out to free the throat. This manipulation stimulates respiration in the following manner, viz: When the arms are extended over the head, the chest-walls are expanded, just as in inspiration, and if the throat is clear the air will rush into the lungs. When the arms are brought down to the sides of the chest, compressing it, the air is expelled just as in expiration.

Motion Must Be Steady. The operator must appreciate the fact that this manipulation must be executed with methodical deliberation just as described, and never hurriedly nor half-heartedly. To grasp the arms and move them rapidly up and down like a pump handle is both absurd and absolutely useless.

In addition to this, if an assistant be at hand, the tongue, held by a cloth or handkerchief to prevent slipping should be seized and drawn forcibly out during the act of inspiration or when the arms are extended above the head, and when the chest is compressed it may be allowed to recede. This rhythmic traction upon the tongue is in itself an excellent stimulant of respiration. It acts not only by freeing the throat of the tongue, which may fall back and obstruct breathing, but also by reflex irritation.

It is safe to say that many who have died in consequence of electrical shocks might have been saved if those at hand had been properly instructed in the methods of reviving suspended animation.

HE'S FAST AS A CORN SHELLER

Con McDonald Cleans a Spring Chicken in Forty-Three Seconds.

Con McDonald is something of an expert when it comes to preparing spring chicken for the fire. A customer was talking with him this morning and happened to remark that he supposed it took about ten minutes to get a fowl in condition. Con smiled and said he guessed he could do it in that time. He walked to his house with his man and picked up a chicken that had been newly slaughtered. He scalded it, stripped off its feathers, dressed it, and had it on the skillet in forty-three seconds. He thinks he can beat that record when in good trim.

BID FOR CITY FUNDS SAYS THE COUNCIL

ALL THREE BANKS TO BE GIVEN A CHANCE.

Treasurer Fathers Questions the Legality of Ordering a Deposit in One Institution—Paving of East Milwaukee Street to Be Left to a Committee of the Common Council.

If the city funds are to be loaned it must be to the highest bidder. City Treasurer Fathers presented a communication to the council last night asking if he had the legal right to loan the high school building fund to the First National Bank on A. P. Lovejoy's proposition. Unless all the banks were permitted to bid he had some doubts whether the order of the council would stand.

Alderman Baines said that under the charter the council could not direct the loaning of city funds, but he thought the high school money ought to be earning something for the school fund. He said it was worth from $125 to $150 a month.

Clerk Bates said that the treasurer had promised the local banks, before the bonds were sold, that in case one of the city banks purchased the bonds, he would leave the money in that bank until wanted by the city. It was also stated that the funds were now in the Rock County National bank. An alderman asked if the Rock County National had purchased the bonds.

The matter was finally disposed of by a motion of Alderman Child, that the common council recommend that after consulting with the city attorney the treasurer be requested to deposit the money with the bank paying the highest rate of interest.

May Order a Pavement.

Alderman Winslow reported that twelve property owners on East Milwaukee street had signed the petition for a pavement, but that this was less than a majority. A recommendation was made by the highway and bridge committee that a committee of one from each ward be appointed to examine the street as the charter provides, and report whether in their opinion the street from Main to Division should be paved. This was approved by the council and the mayor appointed as such committee Aldermen Winslow, Heddies, Sutherland, Cunningham and Smith.

The purchasing committee was directed to place $250 insurance on each of the city election booths, at an expense of $5.30 for three years on each booth.

Alderman Sutherland presented an order which was adopted, for repairing North Bluff street to the city limits.

Mayor Thoroughgood was authorized to approve the bond of Clark & Stewart for building the new high school, provided he was satisfied with the sureties.

Alderman Smith introduced an ordinance repealing an ordinance granting a license to the Myers opera house. The ordinance was read the first and second times and referred to the license committee.

MEAT MARKETS TO CLOSE EARLY.

Butchers Agree to Suspend Business at 7 p. m. Except Saturday.

It was also decided to close on Sundays after this date. The new regulations will take effect on October 1, and will continue to May 1, 1895. All the meat dealers were represented at the meeting, and will adhere to the new rules.

FALL OF 30 FEET DIDN'T HURT HER

Little Emma Wastanay Slips Off the Roof of a Barn.

Little Emma Wastanay is the six-year old daughter of Fred Wastanay, a tenant on the Douglas farm in Plymouth. To-day she crawled on the roof of the barn thirty feet above the ground. Her father called to her and she fell. She alighted upon a pile of boards. There was a crash and the child was pitched high into the air by the spring of the timbers. This was all that saved her from an awful death. The family found the little victim suffering from several severe contusions, but otherwise unharmed. That the child was not instantly killed by the fall is marvelous.

HER PRIVATE LIFE.

HOW LITTLE WE KNOW OF EACH OTHER'S AFFAIRS.

Troubles and Trials Which We Keep to Ourselves.

Some Good Reasons Why It is Wise to Tell Our Experiences.

A story of great suffering comes from Middlesex, Vt. Mrs. B. A. Stockwell, a well known lady residing there, has endured the most intense agony from headaches. She continued to suffer frightfully without obtaining relief. Finally a friend who had recovered from a similar complaint told her just what to do to be cured.

She is now well and wants every suffering woman to know about it. Here is her remarkable letter: "About a year and a half ago," she says, "I had a time of very severe headaches, which, while they lasted were so bad that I could not sit up. They lasted from one to two days, generally two, and after I got over them I was completely prostrated. I tried many remedies but could not find anything to relieve me. I became fearfully discouraged and downhearted and feared I should never get well."

MRS. B. A. STOCKWELL.

"I finally began the use of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and in a very short time was much better. I am now entirely cured thanks to this wonderful medicine. I desire to recommend it to everyone who is suffering from any complaint for I know that it will cure them."

People everywhere are suffering from disease, when if they would take Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy they would be cured. If you, reader, have headache, pain in any part, or any symptoms of nervous or chronic disease take this great remedy and you will be made perfectly well. It is the discovery of Dr. Greene, of 35 West 14th street, New York, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consulted free, personally or by letter.

W. J. HILL HURT IN THE BARRINGTON WRECK.

When the Vestibule Struck Those Coal Cars He Was Thrown Headlong and Drove a Penknife Into His Foot—Damage Not Yet Paid By the Road.

William J. Hill, who travels for a cigar house limped down Milwaukee street this morning with one crutch.

Hill whittled off his own toe in the Barrington wreck.

The mishap was a peculiar one and whether or not the railroad company will pay damages is a question. He gets seventy-five dollar accident insurance money, no matter what the other claim elicits.

"It was this way," he said to an inquiring friend. "I was on my way up the line on the limited, and sat out in the wash room with one shoe off. A corn had been hurting me and I took out a sharp pen knife and began cutting at it. Just then the train stopped ker-bang, and I went up against the door, knife, corn and all. That corn will never bother me again, for pretty nearly the whole toe had been chopped off in the shock. The doctor is trying to save it but he says it is a tough case as I injured the joint."

D. D. WILSON'S SUDDEN DEATH.

End Came While He Was Mowing His Lawn at 6 O'clock.

David D. Wilson, the well-known music dealer, dropped dead at 6 o'clock last evening, while on his lawn at 356 Court street. The news caused great surprise, as Mr. Wilson had been attending to business down town apparently in his usual health, and had not been missed long from the streets. He left his music store, at the corner of Main and Court streets, at quarter to 6 o'clock. Passing through his house he spoke to his daughters, Mrs. C. E. Moseley and Miss Julia Wilson, and went out to mow the grass. A moment later one of the ladies heard a groan and looking out saw her father falling. She rushed to him, but it was too late. Dr. Palmer was hastily called, and pronounced the cause of death rupture of a blood vessel.

Mr. Wilson was born in Gratton, New York, January 3, 1817, and was in his seventy-eighth year. He came to Janesville with his family in 1855, and at once engaged in the music business. The "Wilson Family" vocalists, bore a high reputation in that early day, and on a number of occasions they made concert tours. Mr. Wilson has been engaged in the music business ever since his coming to Janesville. For twelve years he was the leader of the Congregational choir, and a valued member of that church.

Besides his wife, who is well advanced in years, he leaves three daughters—Mrs. Helen W. Cushman of San Francisco; Mrs. C. E. Moseley and Miss Julie C. Wilson who resides with the family. He also leaves a brother, William J. Wilson of Turner Junction, Illinois.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m.

BRIEF BITS OF HUMOR.

A Good Suggestion.

A German officer who was over head and ears in debt said to a friend: "I owe so much money that I have got to do one of two desperate things." "What are they?" "I must either marry a woman with money or commit suicide. Which do you recommend?" "Marry, by all means. You will have plenty of time and justification for committing suicide afterward," replied the friend.—Tammany Times.

"With the greatest of pleasure," replied Jack, and he did.—Spare Moments.

1800—Charles James Fox, British statesman, died; born 1749.

1858—Steamer Austria, from Hamburg to New York, burned at sea; 477 lives lost.

1882—Battle of Tel-el-Kelir and capture of the place after the total defeat of Arabi-Bey by the army of Sir Garnet Wolseley.

1893—Frederick Lathrop Ames, reputed the wealthiest man in New England, died on board the sound steamer Pilgrim; born 1835.

DO THEM BOTH GOOD.

The Methodists of the state gather in Fort Howard next week, but the local churches are too small for the Sunday services, and Bishop Fowler will preach in the Green Bay Turner Hall. The time was and not very long ago, when the Methodist church, or almost any other church, would have held its services in the street rather than occupy a German Turner hall. The breaking down of these walls between the church and the world will be hailed with gladness. As the Green Bay Gazette remarks:

"Who shall say that this local incident of a touch at acquaintance between the Methodists and the Turners shall not leave some little residue of permanent mutual good? It is a matter of very common experience, after we come to know them, to find both the Methodists and the Turners a better sort of people than we had thought to find them."

Nobody doubts that men could be found who would agree to take the job of district attorney for less than $1,200. The Chicago & Northwestern railway company might also find plenty of attorneys glad to represent it for less than the $8000 a year which it now pays. When cold-blooded and unsentimental corporations begin to trust their legal business to the lowest bidder it will be time for Rock county to try the experiment.

"As persistent and annoying as a lot of fleas," is the way a democratic paper describes Wisconsin republicans. The democrats needn't try to hold republicans responsible for their contortions. Most of the scratching they have done in the last year has been to cover up the traces of the Peck-Dohner roster jobbery and the Vilas-Knight pine thefts.

The Beloit News is trying to shake John S. Lynch's republicanism because he wasn't nominated for sheriff. If the News and Mr. Lynch both live the effort may be kept up for the next fifty years without the slightest harm. Mr. Lynch is not a republican for the reason that the small Beloit paper has been successively prohibition, independent, populist and democrat—for revenue only.

Janesville wage-workers were promised a chance to save money under democratic rule. They are still in doubt about the saving but admit that conditions have been such that they haven't squandered much.

Business men seldom hasten to give credit to men who have betrayed them once. They figure very much the same way about a party that betrays them. Not one pledge that it made to the people has the democratic party kept and why it should be trusted again is more than any one can say.

"Substitute" a Success—"Pair of Kids" the Bill of This Evening.

Ezra Kendall pleased a Janesville audience last night with his new play "The Substitute," with which the season for 1894-5 at the Myers Grand was opened. Mr. Kendall's comedy work is good, and the dialogue was especially bright. His support is excellent, and to-night he will present his old piece, "A Pair of Kids," which has been revised and improved.

Hamlet's Soliloquy on—The Turkish Bath Enter HAMLET.

HAM.—To bathe, or not to bathe,—that is the question: Whether 'tis wiser in a man to suffer The aches and pangs of disordered nature, Or to take baths against a sea of troubles And by so doing end them? (To strip—to sweat: No more; and, by a roast to say we end, The headache, and a thousand natural ills That flesh is heir to,—'tis a consummation Devoutly to be wished. To strip,—to sweat: To sweat! and be shampooed; aye, there's the rub.

For in that heat such evils may remove We need not shuffle off this mortal coil, But save our lives. 'Tis this experience That makes so many take the Turkish bath: For who would bear the whips and stings of pain, The consumptive's cough, the fat man's obesity, The pangs of dyspepsia or Bright's disease, The torturings of asthma or the woes That alcohol upon the inebriate brings, When he himself might his deliverance take With a bare body? Who would rheumatism bear, And grunt and groan under a war of life, But that an ignorance of Turkish baths Those re-discovered pleasures, unto which Wise travelers return, doth still prevail, And make us tamely bear those ills we have, Headless of remedies that we know not of, Thus ignorance oft makes dullards of us all; And thus the native hue of health and vigour Is sicklied o'er with the pallor of disease.

FOREST PARK HOMES WERE THEIR MARK

THIEVES ARRESTED WHILE LOOKING FOR OPENINGS.

By Running Your Eye Down This Column You Find Out What Is Happening In All Parts Of the Bower City—Short Supper-Time Songs.

Two tough characters, believed to be professional thieves, who were surveying the town, marched into court with Chief Acheson today. They were found last evening wandering around Forest Park avenues. One, who gave his name as Charles Morris, was charged with being a vagrant; the other, Ered Wilson, charged with carrying concealed weapons. Chief Acheson exhibited a big Smith & Weston revolver, which he took from Wilson at the jail. Wilson pleaded guilty to the charge, and was sent down for ten days in default of the payment of ten dollars and costs. Morris was given five days in jail.

LANDLORD E. D. MILLER of the Hotel Myers can play the snare drum like a survivor of the late unpleasantness. At the fair grounds yesterday he picked up the drum belonging to the Delavan band and with John Souleman playing the bass and several others to whistle "The Girl I Left Behind Me," he made the boards rattle.

The sample buggy in the white, that the Wisconsin Carriage Top Co. are exhibiting at the fair, seems to be a wonder to most of the visitors, how they can put in so good material and only charge $75 for the buggy. This company will build five hundred of these buggies for the trade of 1895.

J. C. CRALL, who is to start a first-class livery here in the city, purchased an elegant top buggy—an Alberman Stanhope and an extension carriage Top Co. are exhibiting at the fair. Mr. Crall intends to start in with first-class work and will have his stable ready by October 15.

THE Cary Safe Co. of Buffalo sent a contract to City Clerk Bates this morning for filing in his office. The contract was for a safe, sold to B. F. Landis, on the installment plan. Clerk Bates informed the safe company that they would probably find Landis in the Ohio penitentiary charged with horse stealing.

WEDNESDAY'S sale of dress goods was decidedly a success and we probably turned out more packages of dress goods than were ever before carried away from a dry goods house in Janesville in one day. On account of fair week the sale will continue as per large ad. Archie Reid & Co.

TUCKWOOD'S display of windmills is prominent at the fair. It includes the patent lubricator, an attachment for oiling the mill. No more climbing; simply pull the string and the oil flows. It is the result of the brainwork of O. H. Orton, of Beloit. Tuckwood's windmills are very popular, and never fail to give satisfaction.

FAIR-goers whose thirst is not helped by lemonade, find a refuge at Hart Bros' place under the grand stand. They have N. B. Robinson's celebrated ale on draught. The ale is widely famed for its purity and excellence, and is very generally prescribed by physicians who want a stimulant for their patients.

AFTER hearing so many favorable opinions as were expressed by the ladies in attendance at yesterday's sale of dress goods we began to more fully believe that the really new line of up-to-date dress goods is here. What the ladies say must be so. Archie Reid & Co.

CAPTAIN P. H. CONLEY, the urbane commander of the Darlington Rifles was in town today combining business with seeing the fair. Captain Conley is interested in the management of the Darlington fair which was a "hummer" this year.

JUDGE J. R. DOOLITTLE, the Chicago man who is always running for something or other in Racine county, was nominated for congress by democrats of this district yesterday. Andrew Kull was named as second choice.

Nor the slightest opposition was shown to the renomination of William Ross for superintendent of schools in the First District. The nomination was made by acclamation and was a fit recognition of good work.

TREASURER CYRUS MINER, of the state fair, has decided to decline a reelection this year. That his action is against the wishes of his associates is shown by to Jay's Sentinel which says there is no doubt of Mr. Miner's reelection. Not once in his seventeen years as treasurer has Mr. Miner been balloted upon. He was put in and has been returned from year to year by acclamation.

PLUVIUS IN CHARGE OF THE FAIR TODAY.

MUD CLOGGED THE WHEELS OF THE PROGRAMME.

The Leaden Skies Kept People Away and Most of the Morning Events Had to be Postponed—Track Was Heavy and the Crowd Was Rather Small.

Mud in big chunks clung to everyone's feet at the fair ground this morning. The track was a belt of slush, and sawdust had to be sprinkled at the crossings. This interfered with the program and made the attendance slim. The band tournament was postponed until after dinner. Organizations from Evansville, Elkhorn, Delavan and Milton Junction were present on the grounds this morning but they were delayed in the selection of judges until too late to go on before dinner. The farmer's wagon race was also postponed owing to the heavy track. The only race that filled yesterday was the 2:50 class trotting, purse $200. Perry, owned by I. L. Hoover won, Frank L. Smith's Isabella second, J. H. Campbell's Unser Fritz third, M. H. Broderick's Rowdy fourth and George Ryerson's Foxy fifth. Time, 2:34, 2:37, 2:34, 2:34.

Among the Exhibitors. The exhibits this year are many and large. Innan & Ballard, the planing mill people, have a display of mantels, grill work and fancy pieces turned out at their mill that would be hard to beat. One need not go out of the city to get mantels, and handsome ones too, as this firm manufactures some of the finest and best ever put in position. Among their many fine pieces of work are some handsome hall seats, which are very graceful. It seems almost impossible to conceive of unyielding wood being made into such beautiful shapes but such is the case, and the result of this work can be seen in their display at the fair grounds.

Just across the aisle and in the same building is H. P. Nott's display of sheet music, organs and pianos. Mr. Nott makes a specialty of sheet music. He has all the popular songs of the day, at popular prices. Besides his display of sheet music he has on exhibition the celebrated Newman Bros. organs and the Fisher and New England pianos. These organs are in the lead among critical buyers. Mr. Nott has sold a great many of them throughout the county, and all give excellent satisfaction. The two makes of pianos which he has as sweet toned instruments as one would care to hear.

They Brag of the Shaw. On the same floor is the large display of musical instruments of all kinds by S. C. Burnham & Co. They have four Shaw pianos, a House & Davis piano, a Chicago Cottage and a Western Cottage organ on exhibition, besides guitars, mandolins, violins, mandolin guitars, banjos, etc. In conversation with Mr. Burnham he said:

"We lay the most stress on the Shaw piano because it has been tested and tried, and in every instance has beaten every other piano with which it came in competition."

This is the piano the Gazette Printing Company selected as its prize last June. Many other good makes of pianos are shown but the Shaw's richness of tone, fine finish and elegant appearance make it much sought after by all musicians. While having all these excellent qualities, it does not sell for any more than many inferior instruments. When the keys of the Shaw are touched the notes are remarkable—so sweet that they could come from none other than the Shaw. Burnham & Co. handle all kinds of musical instruments and their display speaks volumes for their business ability. Accompanying their fine display of instruments can be found a large line of music and songs. They make a specialty of this line and always have all the popular songs of the day on hand.

More Music Near By.

The Main hall might well be named "Music Hall", as adjoining S. C. Burnham & Co.'s stall will be found that of The Trow Music company of Beloit. This is one of the largest music houses in the county. The exhibit does not do it justice, as only space enough could be had to show two pianos. Still these make up in quality, what is lacking in number. They are the Weber and Schubert—names known to ever one who has ever heard a note struck. These two pianos will be sold at factory prices, as Mr. Trow does not care to move them. An excellent chance is given to get a fine piano cheap.

While looking at musical instruments, nobody can pass D. W. Kolle's display of the celebrated Colby pianos. Mr. Kolle is not in the same building with the others and, he was wise to pitch his tent in another, as the crowd he attracts fills the building. People who stepped into Domestic hall to-day to look at the flowers, pictures, etc., found the largest crowd on the grounds, the center of attraction being Kolle's Colby pianos. The sweet tones of the Colby can be heard all the time: and as George Dower runs his fingers over the keys, and the ringing voice of Professor Will Johnson is heard, people flock from all directions. The youthful pianist plays a Colby excellently, and Professor Johnson is a ballad singer of note. The display Mr. Kolle has arranged is one of the finest on the grounds. He has spared no expense to make it a success, and with the aid of Messrs. Dowers and Johnson he is succeeding. The Colby piano received a medal at the World's Fair and at the Philadelphia Exposition. Its tone is as fine as can be found. It has beautiful action, will stand the test of all kinds of temperature, and improves with age. Those who attend the fair will not do themselves justice unless they see this exhibition, hear the celebrated Colby, and hear Mr. Kolle explain its many good qualities. A free concert will be given every afternoon.

Carriages Fit For Kings.

The vehicle department this year attracts more attention than ever before. The Janesville Carriage Works have strained every nerve to show visitors a display of carriages, carryalls, sleighs and ball-bearing buggies that will meet their expectations, and they have succeeded admirably. It would be impossible to describe each and every "wheeled device" they have on exhibition, but it pays to see the exhibit before leaving the grounds. Above all, nobody should fail to see the ball-bearing buggy. It is something new, and nobody who stops long enough to hear Mr. Buchholz explain it will regret the time spent. It will not be long before ball-bearing buggies will be used by all, and the probability is that they will soon have rubber tires. Ball bearings are a great improvement, as they run much easier, do not require oiling but once in a great while and last much longer. While looking at this display it might be well to ask prices on some vehicles that look as if they might be expensive. The Janesville Carriage Works has been making some astonishingly low figures on their excellent work, and a good many "trades" will be made during the fair. This concern always has the best and whenever anything new in their line is put on the market they are the first to get it, as they believe in pleasing their customers, and keeping up with the times at any cost.

F. A. Taylor Is Right On Hand.

A magnificent display of fine surveys, phaetons, fine cutters and Portland sleighs is that of F. A. Taylor, successor to H. H. Harris at the Janesville Machine Co's old retail stand. Mr. Taylor has an exhibition that shows clearly he is no novice in the business. Among the many vehicles to be found there are a number of the Henney Buggy Co's of Freeport. This company has attended four fairs so far this season, some of them state fairs, and has taken first prizes at every one. It seems impossible to improve on their work and liberal was the praise bestowed upon it today. Mr. Taylor has a full line from this house, besides the best makes from other factories. He handles only the best, and as he has the best factories in the world on his list, one can rest assured that if they are fortunate enough to purchase a vehicle of any kind from Mr. Taylor, they will get the best money will buy. Before leaving the grounds call on Mr. Taylor's tent, see the goods there on exhibition, ask for him and make his acquaintance. It will probably be money in your pocket—at least Mr. Taylor will enjoy your presence and welcome you warmly.

Work To Be Proud Of.

A revelation to fair-goers is the buggy in the white shown by the Wisconsin Carriage Co. It is a conundrum to the many spectators how this company can put such fine material into a buggy and charge only seventy-five dollars for it. The buggy is on the pattern of the famous Wisconsin King, of which they will build five hundred for the trade of 1895. Go through the fairs of the state and a finer exhibition of vehicles cannot be found than is the Wisconsin Carriage Top Co. Besides the "King" it includes the Albemarle Stanhope, a model of perfection and ease, as easy riding as a cradle. Then the phaetons, extension top surreys, and other styles, all speak volumes for the skill of the makers.

J. T. Wright doesn't intend people to forget that their face and hands might get dirty while at the fair. The White Nickle and Cyclone display furnish plenty of cleansing materials. One cake alone which is on exhibition weighs four hundred and fifty pounds just as it came from the mould. This soap factory has been talked about very little yet it is a fact that it is supplying the entire country around with White Nickle and Cyclone soap.

A very interesting feature is the display of Mrs. E. L. Williams. Miss Williams has an excellent display of typewriters on the grounds and offers special training to all who attend her school. Her students always leave school with a thorough business education and find situations without difficulty.

Fragrant Banks of Bloom.

Flowers claim the eye of all who enter Domestic Hall. Rentschler Bros., successors to Walter Helms, have a beautiful display of palms, ferns, begonias and cut flowers. A beautiful piece that attracted much attention was an anchor; cross and heart, blended together in such a way as to represent faith, hope and charity. Orchids, and in fact everything in the flower line are to be seen in the Rentschler space.

An attractive display is made by the Singer Manufacturing Co. A. M. Crowe, the local manager has a display there that far exceeds the fondest expectation. Pictures worked on a sewing machine until they equal fine painting adorn the walls at the Singer display. The Singer machine proves its right to be called one of the first sewing machines ever invented. Many other sewing machines have been put on the market but the Singer has stood the test of time, and today stands unequalled. No woman who visits the fair grounds should fail to view the handsome display and see what can be done by a first class sewing machine.

FINE HORSE MISSING AND POLICE SCARED

FAIR GROUND OFFICERS ALL STIRRED UP.

General Superintendent E. C. Burdick Planned a "Shaking Up" Just Like They Have in the Chicago Department—Misunderstanding About the Removal of the Trotter.

Someone found that Ben Lambert, a 2:27 trotting horse, had been stolen from the fair grounds.

That started the sleuths. General Superintendent of Police E. C. Burdick, gave orders to his inspectors to notify the captains that the lieutenants should be commanded to instruct the sergeants to "jacket" the privates, and the whole force was put on the lookout. Charges of neglect of duty were about to be preferred against Officer Charles Young on whose beat the alleged theft was committed, but he showed that at the time the deed was done, he was engaged in keeping several boys from climbing the fence at the opposite end of his territory, and incidentally keeping his eye on a man who looked like a pickpocket. That cleared the officer's skirts, as he could not be in two places at once.

Misunderstanding the Cause.

But a horse was taken just the same. He was taken, however, by his owner, and there was nothing crooked about it. When George Spear was here with his string early in the season he trotted the horse, Ben Lambert, in the 2:27 class but got no money. Then he left the horse in charge of the Janesville association. Secretary McKinney turned the animal loose in a lot at the track and later Ed. Sherman put him in his stable. Yesterday the owner of the horse, John Donelson, of St. Paul, showed up and claimed the horse. Sherman wanted his claim against the animal paid and Donelson didn't want to pay it so when Sherman was out on the track Donelson led the horse away and they haven't seen the animal since.

THEY NAMED NO ASSEMBLYMAN

Three Prohibitionists Meet But Take No Action—Mistake in the Call.

The prohibitionists did not name a candidate for the assembly in the Third district this afternoon. The convention was called to meet at the court house at 2 o'clock this afternoon. At that time J. C. Plumb of Milton appeared, and some minutes after Stanley Joiner of La Prairie joined him, followed by George J. Kellogg of Rock. The trio waited some time, when Mr. Plumb stated that there had been a mistake made in the call, and that a new call would be issued.

A PARIS SENSATION
TEMPTS THE BLASE

THE MIRAGE SONG IN SHORT SKIRTS.

By a Clever Arrangement of Mirrors
The Pretty Dancer May Be Seen in Two Positions Simultaneously—Frenchy and Up to Date.

HE CAFE CHANTANT of Paris is always prepared to take advantage of any novelty, whether it be in nature or art, that will surprise or mystify its patrons. Just at this season the mirage is one of the ordinary freaks of nature, and it is difficult for any one who has not visited the far eastern countries to realize the absolute fidelity to nature these singular apparitions keep.

That the genius of a variety singer should rise to the height of dragging down the heavens to aid her in her short skirt display or force the sun into partnership with her in her act would probably never have occurred to any artist outside the French capital. But in a city where one woman advertises her thinness as a drawing card and another acquires glory because of her awkwardness, any eccentricity is regarded as fin de siècle and sure to bring profit to its originator. The versatile performers of Paris are more prolific in the tricks of their profession than any others the world over.

ANTIONETTE DE AUBIELLE.
The latest sensation in Paris this summer is known as the "mirage song." It was introduced by Antionette de Aubielle a charming young lady, who was favored, like Loie Fuller, with an inventive brother, who in this instance had made a study of a higher art than song and dance, and was thus able to help his sister by calling upon the natural resources of the universe.

The method employed to produce the illusion is a very simple one, and consists in concentrating upon the singer a powerful light which throws a reflection of her figure upon a sheet of glass suspended above her, its edges adroitly concealed. The reflection is, of course, inverted above her head and appears to be floating in the air. Every gesture that she makes is reflected by the figure above her. As she appears in the glare to be standing on her head the interest of the spectators is excited by the contemplation of her skirts and her manipulation of them without making an indecorous display.

SETH LOW.
The Scholarly President of Columbia College.

One of the most interesting men in New York is Seth Low. The president of Columbia college is no ordinary man. Young, well born, well educated, enormously wealthy, he is as busy as any man in the great city these days, helping those who may need help. He works as hard as any professor in his college. His voice is ever raised for all that is good in public affairs, no matter how the political "bosses" may like it. He has time to write for the newspapers and magazines. He is a sturdy pillar in Dr. Rainsford's big church, and there, every Sunday morning, he leads the largest Bible class for young men held in any of the city churches. He lectures now and then, and often speaks to gatherings of young men who stand in need of just such friendly advice as he can give them. He is prominent in all gatherings of literary men, and, in fact, he is to the fore in all movements to advance the public good. Mr. Low is a man of fine executive abilities, and at one time he seemed to be a likely candidate for governor of his state.

Many of Lady Mary Wortley Montagu's letters were destroyed by her daughter, who imagined that the family name was impaired by connection with literature.

SCULPTOR BALL AND THE SEARLES MONUMENT.
Thomas Ball, the sculptor, has given his entire time for several years past to the great Searles Washington monument for Methuen, Mass., and not for two years to come will it be completed.

THOMAS BALL.
The central figure, representing the father of his country standing with one hand on his sword and the other extended in benediction over the kneeling statue of Columbia, is done, but there are four colossal seated figures to be added and four busts of the leading generals of Washington's military family. This will be the most important work in Mr. Ball's artistic career.

John Quincy Adams' Fondness for Fishing.
The old story, good enough to be true, is revived about the late John Quincy Adams as a disciple of the gentle art of fishing. It is told that a Quincy client of his, whose case was to be tried on a certain morning, was unable to get his counsel to go to Boston or to leave his fishing boat, except long enough to write a note to the judge, which, when presented, caused that worthy magistrate to announce to the court: "Mr. Adams is detained on important business." The note read: "DEAR JUDGE,—For the sake of old Isaac Walton, please continue my case until Friday. The smelt are biting and I can't leave."

Murdered in Corea.
At the Presbyterian board of foreign missions in New York nothing can be learned of James Wylie, the Presbyterian missionary who, according to a cablegram, died recently in China as the result of injuries received at the hands of Chinese soldiers who were marching to Corea. At the Methodist board of foreign missions it is said that one of their missionaries named Walley died a few days ago in China from natural causes.

DISARMED WITH A WHIPLASH.

How an Old-Time Stage Driver Surprised an Agent of the Road.

"There is quite a difference between staging in the early days of the state and now," said William Miller, the owner of the stage line running from Casadero to Ukiah, California.

"When I came here from Boston in 1851 I drifted about a bit, and finally went into the service of Charles McLaughlin, the man who was afterward killed by Jerome Cox. He was the owner of the longest stage line in California at that time. It ran with relays from San Jose to Los Angeles.

"I remember once, in a lonely coast range canyon through which the road wound, we had a little experience that was thrilling for the moment. It was about 10 o'clock and a moonlight night. I was just putting the horses through. The stage was full of passengers, and there was a heavy treasure box.

"Just as I got around a bend in the road I saw a figure of a man on horseback standing by the side of the road. He yelled to stop, and I saw a gun barrel gleam in the moonlight. The horses were going at a speed that might be called breakneck, and I just made up my mind to take the chance of getting through. I saw the gun raised to the fellow's shoulder as we approached. I had my long whip in my hand, and, with a desperation born of peril of the moment, I made a vicious swipe at him.

"I don't know how it occurred, but the lash wound itself around the gun, and as we dashed by the whip was drawn taut and I knew it had caught, so held fast. I was nearly pulled out of my seat, but the gun was dragged from the robber's hand and fell to the ground. At the same time it was discharged by the shock. It rattled along the road for quite a distance before the whiplash unwound itself. I don't know what the highwayman thought, but I'll bet he was surprised."

BRITISH PRISONS.
Treatment Awarded to American Convicts Unknown Across the Water.
"Convicts who are confined in American prisons are allowed many more comforts and privileges than the same class of unfortunates in England," said Howard L. Abbot of London. "A man in an English prison is almost as dead to the world as he would be in his tomb. Nothing in the way of food or reading matter can be sent him by his friends and he is never permitted to see a newspaper. Only at long intervals can he write or receive letters and he is never allowed to speak unless he is addressed by an official of the prison. A prisoner sentenced for three years may see a visitor once in three months and he is allowed to write one letter. To men whose terms are longer such privileges are granted less often. For the first month the prisoner's bed consists simply of a broad board, raised a few inches above the floor. He has no mattress and the bed clothing consists of a blanket, pillow, and a couple of sheets. At the end of a month, if his conduct has been all that is required, he is given a mattress three nights a week. Later he has a mattress five nights a week and still later, if his deportment continues absolutely perfect, he is allowed a mattress every night. His food is also regulated by the length of time he remains in prison. He commences with the poorest and most meager fare at first, which is gradually changed for that a little better if his conduct is unexceptionable, but no matter how well he may conduct himself his diet never equals that given to the ordinary prisoner in America."

SURROUNDED BY MYSTERY!
A Great Mistake.

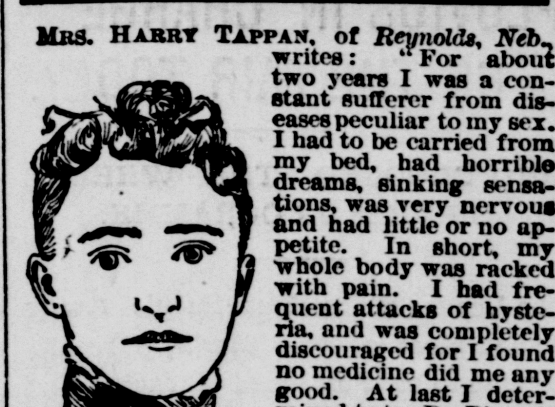

A recent discovery is that headache, dizziness, dullness, confusion of the mind, etc., are due to derangement of the nerve centers which supply the brain with nerve force; that indigestion, dyspepsia, neuralgia, wind in stomach, etc., arise from the derangement of the nerve centers supplying these organs with nerve fluid or force. This is likewise true of many diseases of the heart and lungs. The nerve system is like a telegraph system as will be seen by the accompanying cut. The little white lines are the nerves which convey the nerve force from the nerve centers to every part of the body, just as the electric currents conveyed along the telegraph wires to every station, large or small. Ordinary physicians fail to regard this fact; instead they treat the symptoms, thus increasing the derangement of the nerve centers for the cause of the disorders arising therefrom. The Dr. Miles Medical Co. has a system by which they treat the part affected.

Franklin Miles, M. D., L.L.B., the highly celebrated specialist and student of nervous diseases, and author of many noted treatises on the latter subject, long since realized the truth of the first statement, and his Restorative Nerve is prepared on that principle. Its success in curing all diseases arising from derangement of the nervous system is wonderful, as the thousands of unsolicited testimonials in possession of the company manufacturing the remedy amply prove.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve is a reliable remedy for all nervous diseases, such as headache, nervous debility, prostration, sleeplessness, dizziness, hysteria, sexual debility, St. Vitus dance, epilepsy, etc. It is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. Restorative Nerve positively contains no opiates or dangerous drugs.

MRS. HARRY TAPPAN, of Reynolds, Neb., writes: "For about two years I was a constant sufferer from diseases peculiar to my sex. I had to be carried from my bed, had horrible dreams, sinking sensations, was very nervous and had little or no appetite. In short, my whole body was racked with pain. I had frequent attacks of hysteria, and was completely discouraged for I found no medicine did me any good. At last I determined to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I had taken but two bottles before I felt so much better! I took eleven bottles. Today, I am well. I have never felt the least trace of my old complaint in the last six years. We use the 'Golden Medical Discovery' whenever we need a blood-purifier. With its use, eruptions of all kinds vanish and the skin is rendered clear and soft, almost as an infant's." Sold everywhere.

FACES ON OUR COINS TELL ODD TALES

SOME ROMANCES OF THE NATIONAL CURRENCY.

A Tragic Face Adorns the New $1,000 Silver Certificate—Models Copied From Women in Every Walk of Life—A Washer Woman Honored.

THE MAJORITY OF people who take the time to examine the heads of handsome women that adorn the different denominations of currency and silver pieces, dollars, halves, quarters and dimes, take it for granted that the faces are not the reproduction of real life, but are ideals. In a few cases these people are right, but in the great majority they are wrong. Most of these faces are those of handsome women in various walks of life whose particular type of beauty has appealed to the designers of the plates from which the currency is struck off and to those who prepare the moulds from which our silver coins are taken. It is the statuesque Juno-like type of beauty that generally appeals to these designers, and the subjects are not always chosen from the higher walks of life.

On bills of high denominations have appeared from time to time the faces of favored courtesans, and in one instance the model was a herculean washerwoman with the stern, strong, aggressive features of a Medusa.

The treasury department has just received from the bureau of engraving and printing the first installment of the new $1,000 silver certificates and has begun putting them into circulation.

THE HEAD USED ON QUARTERS AND DIMES. In the right corner of the handsome certificate is the vignette of Secretary Marcy, and on the left is the face and bust of an unnamed but attractive female.

As soon as the new bill was circulated around the treasury department a number of the old employees scrutinized the features of the unnamed and declared that they were familiar. No one, however, could recall the face at first. The designer and engraver was appealed to. He refused to give any information about the model further than to say she was a real flesh and blood model and not an ideal. Further questioning developed the fact that she was still in the land of the living. Europe was her abiding place.

The new bill was passed from hand to hand for some days after this. Curiosity among the treasury employees was at concert pitch, when one of the new certificates happened to come before the eyes of a retired army officer who is at present living in Washington, and who twenty years ago was recognized as one of the gayest of New York's gay bachelors.

He studied the face for a moment, then said:

"Why, that's Josie Mansfield, the woman for whom Ed Stokes, the proprietor of the Hoffman house in New York, shot 'Erle' Jim Fisk in the Grand Central hotel years ago."

Such proved to be the case. A number of photographs of the world-famous courtesan, taken when she reigned as the queen of the New York demi-monde, were unearthed. Among the number was one which served as the model for the designer. It was one of the best of the collection. It

HEAD ON THE BLAND DOLLAR. It is the facial beauty of the Mansfield was shown in all its symmetry without any adornment. There was nothing theatrical about it.

The happy possessor of these $1,000 certificates can turn to it and see Josie Mansfield when Jim Fisk played the part of the infatuated Antony, and when the handsome Stokes stepped in and stole Fisk's Cleopatra.

The face is firmly though not sternly set. There is just the suggestion of a smile hovering around the corners of her lips which is strongly indicative of kindly benevolence. The hair is brushed back from the forehead and caught in a knot at the back of the head. All in all it is one of the handsomest faces that has ever appeared on a piece of currency paper.

Those who glance at the face in relief on our silver dollar of the Bland coinage will be struck with the ideality of the subject. It is not an ideal, however. The model was a Miss Williams, a school teacher, of Philadelphia.

On the new silver coins of 1892 coinage appears the head of a handsome female. The features are regular, of the Grecian type. The chin is strong and squarely moulded. The neck is truly the subject for the sculptor. The hair is drawn from the forehead a la pompadour and is caught at the crown, where rests a flat knot.

This is the face of a French washerwoman who was first seen by the designer for the French mint as she was leaning over her washtub on the bank of the River Seine.

Little difficulty was experienced in getting her to pose before the camera. She was paid 25 francs for her trouble. Some thirty photographs were taken, and, after being picked over by a committee, the one that we now see on our 1892 coins was chosen. The face was designed for the 5-franc piece. On the French coin the face looks toward the left. Our mint officers turned it toward the right and adorned the head with a spray of flowers. It is one of the prettiest models that has been seen on any coin.

PLAIN DR. ANDREWS.

President of Brown University Is Not Fond of Fine Dress.

Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews, president of Brown university, a delegate to the Brussels monetary conference and a well known writer on social, economic and religious subjects, is rather careless about his personal appearance.

He was one of the delegates to the recent big Baptist anniversaries at Saratoga. As the Baptist train en route swung by a little station up in York state, the eagle-eyed operator discovered the figure of a man stowed away on the rear platform, hat pulled down over his eyes, safe from view and everything else except the curling dust and flying pebbles. So the operator wired ahead to the next station as follows: "Look out for tramp on No. 56, rear platform. Jones." The operator at the next station promptly pulled up the train and the conductor went to the rear to investigate. There was the man—a big broad-shouldered fellow, his hat pulled down over his eyes, covered with dust and so generally rough and tough looking that the conductor didn't hanker after a tackle.

So he sent for the brakeman. What followed is indicated by the dispatch which Operator Jones at the back station received a few minutes after from his brother operator. Here it is: "Tramp all right. Going to the Baptist convention with a ticket. Takes his water straight and is president of Brown university."

The fondest hour memory recalls the question naturally suggests itself, which is "a fondness for men or recall?" Has the reader, whose attention we hope to engage, ever had a controversy with his stomach on the subject of dyspepsia. After convincing proofs that the digestive organ has got the upper hand, has a wise resort been made to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters? If so, the "fondest hour" has been recalled by memory in the shape of a lasting resumption of the power of digestion, and a thoroughly comfortable afterward. When the dinner bell, that "voice of the soul," strikes agreeably on the ear, the auditor then greets it as a welcome sound and hastens to obey its summons. The bitters, so renowned as a stomachic, overcomes too, malarial, bilious and kidney trouble, and remedy nervousness, rheumatism and sick headache.

Harper's Pictorial War History.

It was the intention of the publishers in issuing this history to complete it in 26 parts but so many Fine Illustrations, that were not originally planned for, have been added to the several parts as they came out, that it has been found necessary to extend the work to one more part making twenty-seven in all. This last part will conclude with a very complete and carefully prepared index of the whole work, by the aid of which any person or event in the entire history can be referred to at once. The index is one of the most valuable parts of the whole book, and doubles its worth as a practical history of the war.

HOW THE PUBLIC IS IMPOSED UPON.

BEWARE OF FRAUDS.

For The Sake of Profit They Will Sacrifice Principle, Health, Etc.

Unscrupulous dealers are trying to sell ordinary Glauber Salt or a mixture of Seidlitz Powder as "Artificial Carlsbad Salt," "Sprudel Salt," "German Salt" or "Improved Carlsbad Salt," and under other similar names. The Natural Remedies of Carlsbad can not be imitated.

"What Nature makes, man can not improve upon." Artificial made wines will never replace the natural juice of the grapes. Neither can the natural waters of Carlsbad nor the Carlsbad Sprudel Salt be replaced by the cheap substitutes offered to a guileless public for the sake of the larger profit made thereon, by these unscrupulous dealers.

No one would buy artificial wines knowingly. Why buy the imitation of the Carlsbad products, when your health is at stake? The Carlsbad Sprudel Waters are a specific for all diseases of the stomach, liver and kidneys, and have been used with great benefit by hundreds of thousands of people. The Carlsbad Sprudel Salt, which is evaporated from the Sprudel Water at Carlsbad, is an excellent Aperient, Laxative and Diuretic. It is an alternative and eliminative remedy, which dissolves tenacious bile, allays irritation, and removes obstruction by aiding nature, and not by sudden and excessive irritation, as most cathartics do. Use the imported Carlsbad waters, or if it is not convenient to use the waters, or when a more decided laxative effect is desired, use the Carlsbad Sprudel Salt.

Insist upon the genuine, which is imported direct from Carlsbad, and must have the signature of Eisner & Mendelson Co., Sole Agents for the U. S., 152 & 154 Franklin St., New York, on every bottle.
